ADDRESSES SESSION

Midwestern Section Of State
Educational Association, Meets Here

DR. W. LEE GILMORE

Urging the adoption of the proposed new school code, the consolidation of small school districts, the maintenance of the teacher salary minimum except for temporary adjustment and an equality of education for every boy and girl in Pennsylvania, Dr. James N. Rule, state superintendent of public instruction, addressed the midwestern district of the P. S. E. A. convention this morning in the Cathedral.

The proposed new school code now before the General Assembly is open to the people of the state for their study and suggestions for amendment. Superintendent Rule said in outlining its main features and advantages. He told of endorsements of the principle of the larger unit and of the proposed equalization in distribution of subsidies, and outlined possible amendments that have been suggested to date.

The most outstanding desirable adjustment in the larger unit plan as it now stands is in provision of greater flexibility in the size of the unit, which is now set between 5,000 and 11,000 population, he said. This difficulty was experienced in preparation this week of suggested consolidations of districts by counties.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Pa Newc observed the first real sign of spring this morning, when he heard the cheery "pretty-pretty" whistle of a cardinal, one of the early harbingers.

One of the Pa Newc family mentioned an amaryllis plant in a Young street home with two red blossoms, in this column yesterday. Today one of the column detectives has located another amaryllis plant that has no less than 21 blossoms, the first of which appeared about a month ago. This plant is owned by Miss Mary M. Pattison, of the Youngstown road. This is not an unusual time for the plant to bloom but Pa sure thinks that is an unusually large number of blossoms.

With the Japanese cabinet now unanimous on the subject of withdrawal from the League of Nations and "pacification" of Jehol Province, China answered threats with bullets today.

Only a few hours after a Japanese ultimatum, demanding withdrawal of Chinese troops from the Kailu area, was received, the Chinese commander attacked the Japanese lines between Kailu and Tungliao, precipitating an hour's battle and forcing the Japanese to retire.

Sentence Court To Be Held Tuesday

Judges Hildebrand and Chambers will hold a session of court on Tuesday at which pleas will be taken and sentences passed. There are now a number of prisoners in the county jail who have signified their intention of entering pleas. The more pleas entered, the greater the cut that can be made in the expenses of the March term of court. The court usually takes into consideration the fact that a man has pleaded guilty, when sentence is passed.

Representatives of the Taxpayers league, several local manufacturers, Mayor Mayne, Solicitor White and Engineer Hoskins yesterday attended the meeting at Pittsburgh, called for the purpose of discussing rates and service of the Manufacturers Light & Heat company.

House Vote Is Due Monday On Blaine Repealer

Democratic House Leaders
Crack Whip As Final
Drive Begins

POLL INDICATES
MEASURE PASSAGE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Democratic house leaders today cracked the party whip as a final drive was begun for adoption of the Blaine amendment submitting repeal of the prohibition amendment to state conventions.

With a Democratic administration taking over the government on March 4, the possibility of being shorn of their patronage dangled before Democrats who defied the party caucus on the issue.

The repeal resolution will be brought to a vote on Monday after 40 minutes debate, with Speaker Garner using his authority to permit passage under suspension of rules.

Adoption of the resolution by a margin of 12 to 20 votes was indicated in the polls thus far made by leaders, with appeals being made by telegram to absentees to return for the showdown.

Thirty Democrats had excused themselves from the binding vote of the Democratic house caucus for repeal. The vote was 115 to 46, which indicated 59 absentees or not voting.

Since 44 Democrats voted against repeal on the opening day of congress, Democratic leaders were hopeful of a net gain of at least 12 to 15 votes.

The Republican "wet bloc" planned to endorse the Blaine resolution today, with Rep. Beck of Pennsylvania, its leader, warning anti-prohibitionists that their real fight to end prohibition begins when the resolution is adopted.

Dr. Haas discussed at some length the condition of school teachers in Pennsylvania at the present time with their condition 10 and 15 years ago. He showed that while the salaries of school teachers had increased, their preparation and standards had kept pace with that salary increase and that today, the average school teacher has a preparation of high school and college back of her that fits her to be a better teacher than her sister of a decade or two ago.

Pinchot Vetoes McClure Measure

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 18.—One of the two bills passed by Pennsylvania's Legislature during the present session today was given a gubernatorial veto.

The vetoed measure was sponsored by Senator John J. McClure, Delaware, and would have compelled the Department of Highways, rather than the counties, to pay for damages incurred in the building or relocation of roads.

In his veto message the governor pointed out that counties now receive three dollars in gasoline tax for every one they pay for land damages.

The winner of the New Castle-Butler game next Tuesday at Butler, providing it is New Castle, will play the winners of Section 18 at Beaver Falls on the tentative date of March 1, it was announced by the W. P. I. A. L. tourney committee today.

If Butler wins next Tuesday then an extra game will be necessary to decide the Section Three title. It looks like either Union High or Evans City as the Section 18 winners, with Union holding first place today.

The Section Three and Eighteen winners drew a bye for the first round of the tourney. The semifinals and finals will be played at the Pitt Stadium.

State President Speaks To Teachers On Friday Night

Two outstanding speakers addressed the convention of the Midwestern Section of the Pennsylvania State Educational Association in the Cathedral Friday night, when the night session of the first convention was held. Dr. Francis B. Haas, president of the P. S. E. A. and a former State Superintendent of Public Instruction, was the first speaker and Cameron Beck, Personnel Director of the New York Exchange was the other. One an educator and the other a business executive, but both of them having a real message for the 2000 educators who were gathered in the convention.

Dr. Haas discussed at some length the condition of school teachers in Pennsylvania at the present time with their condition 10 and 15 years ago. ACCUSED YOUTH
BLAMES JEALOUSY

Norma E. Krause, aged 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Krause of 116 Gardner avenue, is in a severely wounded condition in the New Castle hospital as a result of an argument late last night with a friend, Norman Turner, of 128 West Center Alley, during which he is alleged to have stabbed her in the chest. Turner, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Turner, is in the city jail, having given himself up following the stabbing. He will be nineteen years of age next August.

The knife entered the chest of Miss Krause just a little below the heart and according to the attending physician severed a large artery. It is in such a place and so close to the heart that to operate and attempt to tie the artery would still further lessen the chances of recovery. There is a chance that the artery may close up and nature do the necessary work to save her life.

Several Conferences.
Mr. Roosevelt has had several conferences with Democratic Chairman James A. Farley, and with his confidential secretary, Louis M. Howe, since reaching the city, with construction of the new cabinet as his chief concern.

It appeared, with inauguration only two weeks off, the president-elect has been able to fill but half of his cabinet with any degree of certainty.

Those considered fairly definite are: secretary of state, Senator Cordell Hull, (D.) of Tennessee, attorney general, Senator Thomas J. Walsh, (D.) of Montana; secretary of labor, Miss Frances Perkins, labor commissioner of New York state, and secretary of commerce, William Woodin, of New York, president of the American Car and Foundry Co.

Glass Possibility.
Senator Carter Glass, (D.) of Virginia, is considering an offer to be secretary of the treasury, and Senator Bronson Cutting, Insurgent Republican, of New Mexico, is doing likewise with the interior portfolio.

The chief hitch which has arisen revolves around Glass's appointment. There is reason to believe that Mr. Roosevelt has decided to undertake a program for inflation of currency and remonetization of silver after March 4, and to that end made his offer to Glass conditional on the point that the little Virginian support such a program.

Glass has declared repeatedly against inflation but may accept it. He told the president-elect yesterday he would give him a final answer by Monday.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—James J. Corbett, the man who revolutionized boxing by winning the heavyweight championship from John L. Sullivan, died today at his Bay-side, L. Corbett had been seriously ill for more than a year with a complication of diseases which reduced his once powerful proportions to little more than 140 pounds. He was in his sixty-seventh year.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—President-elect Roosevelt was back in his 65th Street home today enjoying the somewhat dubious pleasure of super-police protection made necessary as a result of the Miami incident.

His house, which lies just off Park Avenue, has been heavily guarded by New York police ever since the incoming chief executive reached here last evening.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 18.—The trial of Giuseppe Zangara, the little Italian who went berserk with a gun and shot five people here in a vain attempt to assassinate President-elect Roosevelt was set today for Monday in the Dade county criminal court.

Given a second preliminary hearing this morning, counsel for the swarthy little would-be assassin explained to Judge E. C. Collins they had not yet received a report on their client's mental condition and therefore requested a delay. They thought they would get this report by tomorrow and be prepared to plead on Monday.

The court consented and that ended today's hearing. The whole proceeding occupied but a few minutes. Court convened at 10:05 and at 10:10 the room was cleared.

Under Observation.
Zangara was put under observation by two psychiatrists last night, Doctors T. H. Agos and T. E. Moore, who were appointed by the Dade County Medical Society.

There was no indication the defense would enter a plea of insanity, but the Dade county authorities want to avoid any appearance of precipitate haste or "railroading" (Continued On Page Two)

When the month of March comes prancing in and February leaves a sigh, I'm wondering just what 'twill bring a mewling lamb or roaring lion. For does the month come sliding in on balmy airs and springy breeze, we'll probably get ice and snow and add some snifflers and some sneezes. But does it come in with a roar and blows the whiskers from your chin you'll know that April isn't far, and spring is ready to begin. Such are the prophecies of old concerning March and lambs and such, but do I think they tell the truth, about the weather, well no much. There's so much snow and ice and hail that we must get when winter's here, so much of blizzard and of frost, so many days both dark and drear, there's so much sun that's bound to come, so many zephyrs that will play, and we will get our share that's all, the weather's forty four today.

TO SEEK ADJUSTMENT OF UTILITY RATES

District Unites For Campaign

City Solicitor R. M. White Takes Prominent Part In Conference

MEETING HELD AT PITTSBURGH

Amicable Adjustment Of Rate Controversy Will First Be Sought

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Feb. 18.—Organized into a permanent organization to obtain utility rate reductions and to fight gas adulteration, representatives of 35 western Pennsylvania communities today moved to adjust amicably dispute with the Manufacturers Light & Heat Company and other gas, light and water utilities.

Threats of an appeal to the Public Service Commission to gain the twin objectives hung over the conciliation conference table as a result of yesterday's meeting of officials of the districts at which the permanent organization was formed.

Seek New Rates Resolutions adopted by the newly-formed organization provided for the extension of the fight to other concerns later and for appeal to the Public Service Commission if conciliation failed.

Another resolution provided for the association to join hands with the Pennsylvania fair rate association in its fight "to obtain a better and fairer regulation of public utilities."

D. Glenn Moore of Washington, Pa., newly elected president of the association, was to name an executive committee of five to carry on a campaign to raise funds with which to finance the fight. Each community will be asked to contribute not to exceed $10 per 1,000 population.

White On Committee Other officers selected by a committee headed by Robert White, New Castle city solicitor, and ratified by the entire group, were Judd C. Turner of Ellwood City, vice president; Charles H. Stone of Beaver, secretary, and H. R. Campbell of Washington, treasurer.

The fund-raising campaign is expected to net a maximum of some what less than $5,000 from the estimated population of more than 450,000 in the affected communities. Organization of the association concluded a lengthy discussion of Pennsylvania utilities which was climaxed by White of New Castle who delivered a general denunciation of the Public Service Commission, he said.

White Makes Charges "The commission has been serving the corporations and not the public. We will never have any relief in Pennsylvania until the Public Service Commission is a militant body."

A flat declaration that "Beaver Falls is about ready to quit paying electric light bills" was made by Solicitor J. E. Elliott of that borough in urging the formation of the unit front to fight the rates. He opposed the customary procedure of placing the burden of proof in rates cases on the consumer instead of the company.

Water rates were injected into the discussion by Mayor Joseph A. Heinemann of Butler and Elliott. Heinemann said:

Butler's Complaint "New Castle is much larger than Butler, yet our city pays $1,000 a year more for water than New Castle pays, although the companies serving both communities are under the same ownership at the top."

Elliott was even more bitter in his attack:

"New Castle, with two and a half times the population of Beaver Falls, pays $8,000 a year for water while Beaver Falls pays $11,625, or four times as high a rate."

Adulteration of gas was charged by Mayor Charles B. Mayne of New Castle, who declared:

"Gas now supplied Beaver Falls and New Castle blows the match out and won't burn." It was charged the manufacturers concern, against which most of the attacks were directed, mixed artificial gas with natural gas, making a product with only about 500 heat units per 1,000 feet instead of the 1,160 given off by natural gas. This charge has been denied by the utility company officials.

school purposes are justified," said Dr. Haas and if he doesn't see that a system of public schools is different from private enterprise and that such a system is entitled to preferential public support, then the expense is not justified."

Dr. Haas then took up the proposed School Code, which is before the present session of the General Assembly. The motif of the new code he said is economy and with that thought in mind consolidations have been provided for which it is thought are more efficient and more economical, an effort is made to equalize educational opportunity in Pennsylvania.

"As to the salaries," said Dr. Haas, "I am not saying whether they should be raised or lowered. The question is not one of salary, but we believe that there is an obligation upon the Legislature to maintain the purchasing power of public education."

Cameron Beck Speaks

Cameron Beck, Personnel Director of the New York Stock Exchange was the second speaker. He is not an educator in the sense that he is in school work, but his talk soon developed the fact that he is an educator, working in the field of business, a magnetic individual who seems to draw an audience to him as a magnet draws steel filings.

As an adjunct to his work in the Stock Exchange Mr. Beck has been across the United States a number of times mingling with educators, speaking to high school groups, observing the progress of education and giving educators the benefit of his wide experience in human relationships in the Exchange.

Much of his address was epigrammatic. For instance "If America is to go forward she must go backward to some of the old foundation stones."

"We are now walking back from a long joy ride."

"America has never developed a finer, cleaner generation than the present generation of high school boys and girls."

"If I were to exchange my profession I would like to become an optician and be permitted to change the glasses of adult Americans in their outlook of the younger generation."

"Economy in government is a necessity at this time, but children in school should not be deprived of an education in an attempt to compensate a decade of adult overindulgence."

He spoke of his trips to the larger cities of the country, of his observation of the work being done by children today and urged the teachers to deal with youth in a modern, sympathetic manner. "We are in a changing world," he said, "and we can't deal with modern boys and girls as we were dealt with thirty years ago."

Mr. Beck has been on a tour of educational institutions in Western Pennsylvania and was induced to accept the invitation of the Midwestern Section. His presence added much to the program and at the conclusion of his address he was given an ovation.

The delegates were given an idea of what New Castle done in school orchestras when at the opening of the evening session the combined junior and senior high school orchestra played several numbers under the direction of Joe F. Replogle. Their work was unusual even for a New Castle school orchestra and the delegates voiced their appreciation.

School Teachers Urge Revised School Code Be Laid Aside Now

Running somewhat counter to the urging of State Superintendent James N. Rule that the new revised school code be adopted, the convention of the Mid-western District of the Pennsylvania State Education Association adopted a resolution before adjournment today, asking the legislature to lay aside the code for the present and devote its time to the raising of money for financially distressed districts. The resolution which was an amendment to the report of the resolutions committee, was presented by Superintendent John Gibson of Butler, Pa., who has headed the Butler schools since 1896.

The report of the resolutions committee commended Governor Pinchot for his attitude in education, President Haas, State Superintendent, the new Castle School Directors, President C. C. Green, the new Castle News and all others who had done anything towards making the convention the success it was.

Code References

The report recommended that the legislature adopt certain sections of the school code regarding consolidations, and a few other features but expressed its antipathy to the section which makes the State Educational Council all powerful. Another section inferred recommended a further study of the situation before any state teachers colleges were dropped.

CHINA ANSWERS JAP THREATS WITH BULLETS

Nations, the Japanese government took the first active step toward secession.

Yosuke Matsuoka, chief Japanese delegate at Geneva, was granted permission to return to Tokyo as soon as the league assembly adopts the report of the committee of nineteen, condemning Japan's activities in Manchuria.

At the same time, Japan swept forward along her chosen path in the Orient. The cabinet formally approved plans for "pacification" of Jehol province in defiance of the League.

China Prepares

Meanwhile, China girded for outbreak of hostilities. Chinese troops prepared to blow up the Tientsin railway bridge in an effort to check the Japanese-Manchukuo advance toward Jehol, while other forces tore up railway tracks and clogged tunnels with rocks to cripple the Japanese movement.

Indicating how seriously the threat of war is viewed in London, Lloyd's Insurance company decided to cancel all open cover insurance policies against risk of war, riots and civil commotions on ship cargoes in the Far East.

By ARNO DOSCH-FLEUROT International News Service Staff

Geneva, Feb. 18.—Despite unconfirmed reports that Japan's cabinet had decided upon immediate withdrawal from the League of Nations, Yosuke Matsuoka, Japanese delegate, today assured International News Service he is still awaiting final instructions.

Other reports, meanwhile, stated Japan will resign as soon as the League assembly adopts the draft report condemning Japanese military activities in Manchuria, but these advices caused little surprise.

Matsuoka declared he has not yet received official instructions, but anticipates them shortly.

"I asked for instructions from Tokyo several days ago, when I forwarded an advance copy of the committee of nineteen's report to my government," he told International News Service.

"The government naturally found itself unable to accept the report, but this does not necessarily mean that Japan will withdraw from the League immediately."

Chinese Prepare

Tokyo, Feb. 18.—Chinese troops are preparing to blow up the Tientsin railway bridge to check the Japanese-Manchukuo advance toward Jehol province, reports from Chinchow said today.

The advance said 7,000 troops commanded by General Wang Te-Lin at Chaoyang and removed rails from the lines in the Nanling district, filling tunnels with rocks and otherwise attempting to disrupt Japanese communications.

It is believed here the first clash between Chinese and Japanese troops in the Jehol campaign will take place in the Chaoyang area.

Japanese reports from Changchun, capital of Manchukuo, claim forces of Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, Chinese commander in the north, number 15,000 within the borders of Jehol, 80,000 around the Shanhaiwan district, and 100,000 in the Peiping, Tientsin area.

Japan Plans Move

Tokyo, Feb. 18.—Overcoming opposition from Premier Viscount Saionji and other cabinet leaders, the military element in the Japanese cabinet today achieved unanimity on the subject of resignation from the League of Nations.

While no definite decision will be made until the League assembly adopts the committee of nineteen's report condemning Japan's activities in Manchuria, apparently only a matter of time now prevent Japanese withdrawal.

HOLD YOUTH FOR GIRL STABBING

pany for more than a year have been getting along so well recently, according to the young man's parents. He has been acting strangely, they say, as if something was bothering him.

Last night the argument evidently reached a climax between the two young people and the stabbing resulted.

Police officers answering a call to the scene found that Turner had run away. They took the girl to the New Castle hospital, and then informed the central police station concerning the affair, giving a description of the young man. This description had just been given out to all officers, when a knock was heard at the police station door leading to the patrol barn.

Turner Surrenders

An officer answered the knock and found Norman Turner standing there. He stated that he had stabbed his sweetheart and wanted to give himself up, police report. He stated in explanation of his action that she had made him so jealous that he lost his head, pulled the knife and stabbed her.

The officers answering the call found the knife and brought it to the central police station. It is similar to a regular kitchen knife such as is found in the average kitchen.

The cutting took place on the porch of a vacant house at 114 Gardner avenue.

The parents of the young man claim that not only has he been acting strange, but that they have been trying to have him break off the affair on this account. The police are now engaged in picking up all the details of the affair, due to the very serious nature of the girl's injury.

TESTS WATER HERE

Twenty four samples of water served here were tested during January by Dr. W. L. Steen. In addition eight samples of water taken from wells and springs were tested.

DIRECTORS OF COUNTY SCHOOLS NAME OFFICERS

ment of Education at Westminster College, also spoke along these lines, following Mr. McElwee.

Copies of the changes in the school code were distributed to representatives of the different school boards by Mr. McElwee.

County Superintendent of Schools John C. Syling discussed the seriousness of the financial problem facing the school boards of the fourth class districts.

He pointed out the fact that there had been a shrinkage of county school money amounting to $135,000 during the past three years, and indications pointed to the fact that between 35 and 40 per cent of the school tax levied in the rural districts would not be collected this year. Last year, the amount filed, was $91,918.34.

Tuition Cost High

One of the big factors in increasing school costs in the rural districts, has been the high school tuition. In 1922, he pointed out, there were only three high schools in Lawrence county, Enon, North Beaver and New Castle. The number of pupils enrolled was 302, of which number 247 were in the city schools here.

Comparing tuition costs for high school from a comparative recent date, he pointed out that in Neshaunock township, high school tuition in 1918-1919 amounted to $1,221.62 and today is $9,074.33, an increase of 700 per cent. The township has 12 teachers and receives a 50 per cent subsidy for payment of teachers.

The tax payers of the township must raise $4,063 to pay their teachers, but must levy taxes of over $9,000 to pay high school tuition.

Wayne township, which receives a 60 per cent subsidy for teacher aid, last year had 65 pupils and paid $8,087.50. From 1917 to 1919, they paid $1,539.65 for tuition but last year it was 600 per cent greater than in 1917.

South New Castle Boro, which receives a 75 per cent subsidy for payment of teachers, paid $639.78 for high school tuition in 1918-19 but last year paid $2,234.16 an increase of 350 per cent.

An assessed valuation of around 15 millions, the county districts must levy 7 1/2 mills for the payment of teachers' salaries alone, he pointed out.

Pass Resolutions

C. V. Price of Wayne township, stated that he realized the salary question was a big one, but did not believe in cutting the school teacher down unless the ones higher up received a cut in salary also. He stated that it took 150,000 gallons of the farmers milk at eight cents a gallon, to pay Dr. Rule's salary, and felt that he could better afford to take a reduction than the poor teacher getting a mere pittance.

Resolutions of respect, honoring the memory of the late Charles P. Ball, former county and assistant county superintendent, were passed.

A resolution was also passed, favoring the abolishment of the office of assistant county superintendent.

MERCER COUNTY SHEEP MAN BURIED

MERCER, Pa., Feb. 18.—D. F. McDowell, 77, for 40 years rated one of the outstanding sheep breeders of this county, where the industry is a major agricultural pursuit, was buried Friday from his home near Fredonia.

McDowell's last triumph was his show of pure bred from his flocks at the Harrisburg State Products Show in January. His widow, two sons, Anson and David, his daughter, Corintha, all at home, survive.

IN ABERDEEN

An Aberdonian had been visited on several occasions by the doctor. In due course he received the bill. On paying it he demurred over the amount.

"It's right enough," said the doctor. "I paid seven visits to your home."

"I ken that," was the reply, "but on the last visit I can oot tae the front gate when ye arrived."—London Tit Bits.

Belle on the Beach

Although the sun gets most of the credit for making the South a pleasant place to spend the winter, the daughter has a lot to do with it. In this case the daughter is Miss Mary Lansing, of New York, whose mother is one of New York's most popular society hostesses. Miss Lansing is shown at Nassau, Bahamas, where she has introduced the masculine fad to the beach. Note the nifty lounging trousers.

Deaths of the Day

Robert Dillen, aged 77, a retired farmer, who spent his earlier days in the vicinity of Koppel and Clinton, died Friday at 10 a. m. at his home, 1303 Penn. avenue, New Brighton, after an illness of one year.

Funeral services will be held from his home Monday at 2 p. m. and interment will be made in the Clinton cemetery.

MONDAY SET AS TRIAL DATE FOR ZANGARA

the little Italian and they are proceeding with all circumspection. For fifteen minutes before court opened, Zangara sat in the crowded courtroom the cynosure of all eyes. He was unmanacled, but guarded closely by four stalwart detectives, who towered above their small prisoner like giant Redwoods over scrub oak.

He was attired in a soiled pair of flannels and a blue shirt, opened at the throat.

Stares At Floor.

His need of a shave accentuated his swarthy features, frequently he rubbed his black stubbled chin, but only occasionally did he say anything to his guards.

He paid little attention to the snapping of the newspaper cameras and for the most part stared sullenly at the floor.

Extraordinary efforts are being made to prevent any "undue incidents" in connection with Zangara's trial. Spectators and newspaper reporters were "frisked" for firearms on entering the courtroom today.

The crowd in the room, however, and outside the courthouse did not appear hostile to him. They were rather curious.

For the first time in the history of the Dade county court, telegraph wires were permitted in the courtroom. The clicking keys furnished an odd note in the sombre chamber.

Zangara was kept in his seat until the courtroom was entirely cleared. Then he was whisked back to his solitary skyscraper cell atop Miami's five million dollar courthouse and jail.

Comfortable Night.

Miami, Fla., Feb. 18.—Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago, wounded by an assassin's bullet, intended for President-Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt, was reported to have "spent a comfortable night" at Jackson Memorial hospital.

Mrs. Joseph Gill, the other seriously wounded victim of the first while assassin, was said to be "resting easily," sleeping at intervals but with her condition still critical.

CONTAGION LIGHT.

Only 23 cases in contagion were reported during January, according to Dr. W. L. Steen, city health officer. Twelve of the cases were chickenpox.

Your social rating at a winter resort depends on whether you wear a bandana as a hat or a shirt.

URGES ADOPTION OF NEW SCHOOL CODE FOR STATE

To obtain the best results, he said the 11,000 limit might well be raised and the 5,000 limit reduced, possibly to a suggested figure of 2,500 population. He added it would be advantageous to permit crossing county lines in setting up larger units in certain scattered instances.

Provisions of Bill

The larger unit plan has been discussed for 20 years in Pennsylvania. It was first proposed in 1913 and recommended for the state in 1914 by a committee appointed by Governor Nathan C. Shafer and the State Education Association. It is not new, but is practiced successfully in many other states.

The state superintendent described the bill introduced on Wednesday at Harrisburg which would make permissive reductions in teacher salaries for the coming biennium, and make the matter of increments optional with local school boards. The bill, introduced by Representative Wilson, McKean county, chairman of the House education committee, would give school boards authority to reduce salaries 10 per cent below the minimum amount the teacher is entitled to receive this year. If greater reduction is found necessary by boards in financial difficulties, they may petition the state council of education for permission to make not more than an additional 10 per cent reduction.

Dr. W. L. Gilmore

Dr. W. Lee Gilmore, formerly of New Castle, but now supervising principal of the Oakmont schools, spoke on the "School Employees' Retirement Fund". He went into the minutia of the plan, explained why it was first started, how it has been developed along actuarial lines and how necessary it was to keep it up to its present standard.

"There are many teachers in this state who must soon retire after a long life of service," said Dr. Gilmore. "Will we stand idly by and fail to provide for them in their retiring years?"

IT'S RED HOT SAY CRITICS OF BALINESE DRAMA
The little island of Bali, in the Dutch East Indies, is giving Hollywood a run as motion picture production headquarters for this little old cooled-off ball of molten rock. And Bali is still hot, for the island girls wear little above the waist, even in the presence of the white explorers.

To date most of the Balinese film product has been of a flimsy complex. But now comes "Goon-Goon" ("The Love Powder"), hailed by the critics as the red-hot drama of motion pictures. We hear that it has a real story after the Hollywood fashion and is well acted before the tropical verdure, the exotic temples and thatched villages.

ONLY ONE MURDER IN YEAR

ACCORDING to a report recently given out, the city of Quebec, with a population of approximately 100,000, was the scene of only one murder in a whole year.

In the United States there are on an average approximately 10 murders each year out of each 100,000 of population while in the cities of Memphis, Jacksonville and Birmingham the annual rate during the past 10 years has averaged nearly 60 murders per 100,000 or 60 times that of Quebec.

In spite of the earnest efforts of sociologists and publicists to determine the cause and suggest a remedy for the deplorable crime situation, no appreciable headway has been made in that direction.

Attempts to explain crime as an aftermath of the war flat when it is considered that the homicide rate in England, Canada, Australia, South Africa, New Zealand and other English-speaking countries average only about one-tenth that of the United States, yet all these were in the war from beginning to end and suffered from its effects in every way immeasurably more than we did.

It is declared by a recent writer that only one murderer out of 160 is executed in New York, while 70 out of 100 are hanged in London. This may have something to do with our high murder rate.

RADIO "BLOOD AND THUNDER"

It would appear that the radio could well afford to dispense with some of the murder, mystery and just plain "blood and thunder" drama that fills the air to overflowing these days.

Perhaps this sort of thing doesn't have an adverse influence on the youngsters, but it remains that many of them hang on every word and that a morbid frame of mind is more or less certain to be the immediate aftermath of much of this radio drama.

In the past, we've had the problem of wild and woolly movies to contend with. It seems now that the radio is replacing the moving pictures in this same light.

THE STAGE AND SCREEN NEWSPAPER

Many professions have been used as the basis of stories on the stage and screen, but of all the professions so used, that of the newspaper has fared the worst. There have seldom been scenes depicting the life in a great newspaper office which does not include a drunken reporter, a violent slave driving editor, frantic copy boys dashing madly hither and yon knee deep in waste paper, newspaper, cigar butts and telephones. Those familiar with the orderly process of newspaper publishing, the smooth functioning of an almost perfect organization cannot help but smile at the scenes which are supposed to represent a true picture of conditions in the modern newspaper plant.

The recent Grofe Symphony, trying to set a tabloid newspaper to music as hectic as itself, has brought out the comment that newspaper offices are actually not the madhouses they are depicted on the stage and the screen, and now to music. In fact, it would be impossible to make a newspaper exciting if those who produce it were excited. Go into a newspaper office some day when a big story is "breaking" and the task of getting it into the next edition is a matter of split seconds. You will be surprised to find how quiet and matter-of-fact it is.

For that matter, the language of newspapers is as badly distorted in fiction and on the stage as is the manner of getting them out. Just at the climax of some mystery scene, the heroine or the villainess is likely to read in a husky voice an alleged clipping from a newspaper, said to be depicted under "flaming headlines", something like this:

"We are reliably informed that a certain well known society queen was recently seen often in the company of a notorious ex-master of the gangster underworld. We understand that proceedings of an indubitably sensational nature are in the offing. But for the present we refrain from further details. Our readers will anxiously await developments."

Now honestly—did you ever read of that sort of stage and novelistic newspaper in a real newspaper?

There is unquestionably a certain amount of glamour still attached to "newspaperdom" and still survives in spite of the introduction of "big business" methods in the mechanical production. But the romance, if any, is certainly not in the wild scramble of cussing editors, hardboiled women reporters, proof readers, printers, and pressmen, usually presented to the public as bonafide reproduction of life on a newspaper.

The thrill, if there is one, is perhaps the pleasure of a "job well done," the clear presentation of fact, accuracy and speed with which the story can be given to the reader. Obviously such a goal cannot be reached by slapstick methods, and can only be realized by infinite care to detail and the help of a perfect organization, in which each and every individual is an expert, and proud of that fact and equally interested in the construction of a perfect finished product.

Some day perhaps a true story of a newspaper will be written. We are still waiting.

When one man beats another's game it encourages a lot of easy marks.

Sometimes a woman refuses to tell a secret because she doesn't know it.

When the four-hour work day arrives it will not make much difference on the golf links.

It seems easier for a man to be amiable with the world when he is making a lot of money.

Another unique feature of the show business is that it requires brains to play the fool.

Ignorance is a dreadful thing that does almost as much damage as the greed and envy of the smart.

How puzzling it is to learn that some fellow is slandering you when you can't remember ever doing him a favor.

Many a boy who is poor in mathematics at school will soon know all the batting averages in his favorite league.

The ability to talk well in public would be a fine thing if people didn't accept it as evidence of ability to manage public affairs.

All Of Us

BY MARSHALL MASLIN

THE MAN WHO DIDN'T WANT FRIENDS

He sat there and smoked his cigarettes and smiled and told me that he didn't want any friends.

Friends, he said, are a nuisance. They get in your way. They will not let you be yourself. You make a friend and he puts his arm around your shoulder and draws you in to himself. You become a part of him then, "an extension of his egotism," as he put it. You're like his dog, house, his family, you are his. And you don't belong to yourself any longer.

He talked as if friendship were an indecent and selfish thing. A slavish device for tying a free soul. So he, himself, would have no friends. He desired to be free. He wanted to "know" life. Life is exciting. Life is an adventure. And he desired to be ready for any part of it that came along. But if he had friends in his life, cluttering it, hampering it, he wouldn't be free. Did I think so?

I didn't answer, but I don't think so. It seemed futile to talk about friendship to him. To do so would be, as the poet puts it, like beating in vain one's wings in the luminous void. The young man was merely using words, spinning ideas in the atmosphere. He knew nothing at all about the matter. And perhaps he never would know. It was likely that he had never had a friend. Quite possible that he never would have one. He would not know how to live with a friend if he did have one.

His life, so far, had been sterile. And though it is a kind of arrogance to play another human being without knowing all there is to be known about him—I pitied him, as you might pity a man who makes a public show of himself.

Because I think he was confused about friendship. It is not a greedy and grasping arrangement. It is, rather, a gentle grouping of two human beings who are a little lonely and a little incomplete. Who are warmly strengthened and comforted by one another.

In a friendship a man will give without asking return. He will understand without being told. A friend will see your imperfections without loving you the less. He has taken you to himself and will not let you go to change. If he needs your help, his need is no burden, but a privilege. And his arm about your shoulder is no chain; it sets you free.

I might have said this to the bright young man, but somehow I wasn't sure he'd understand.

THE HAND THAT FEEDS

Don't scorn the hand that gives you bread and butter.

Because some folk are good to you, don't be everlasting holding out your hand for more.

If you were more modest in your wants and more grateful for the little you have, you would get much more sympathy and help.

The one who is always wanting something gets to be a nuisance. Matters settle themselves in the end, so you can't force the issue.

Those you think unkind and selfish may have a real desire to help you.

But they see this disposition to be never satisfied and they can't see any end to what they might have to do, if they followed your desires.

So they sit right down and let the matter slide and let you fuss and fume, and you think they turn a deaf ear to your complaints.

Why, of course they turn a deaf ear. You always want more, or you criticize what is done for you.

Children are often that way when their parents are doing all in their power to help and make happy.

Such children deserve to be put strictly on their own, to sink or swim—for they don't appreciate the hand that feeds and cares for them.

DISPUTED WISDOM

About the time I think I know which path to take and which road to go

Somebody gets on his feet to say I ought to travel another way. And so firmly fixed in his views is he

That his argument sadly confuses me.

I mention this and I mention that. And instantly somebody floors me flat.

Or shows me a different point of view.

The existence of which I never knew. And I toss on my pillow the whole night long.

Wondering which is the right and wrong.

My neighbor accepts what I score to take.

Another, an argument long can make.

Proving that he has the proper view Of what is false and what is true; And wise indeed is the man who knows

The hidden places where wisdom grows.

Two sides to a question? All printed lore Will show to a reader a dozen or more.

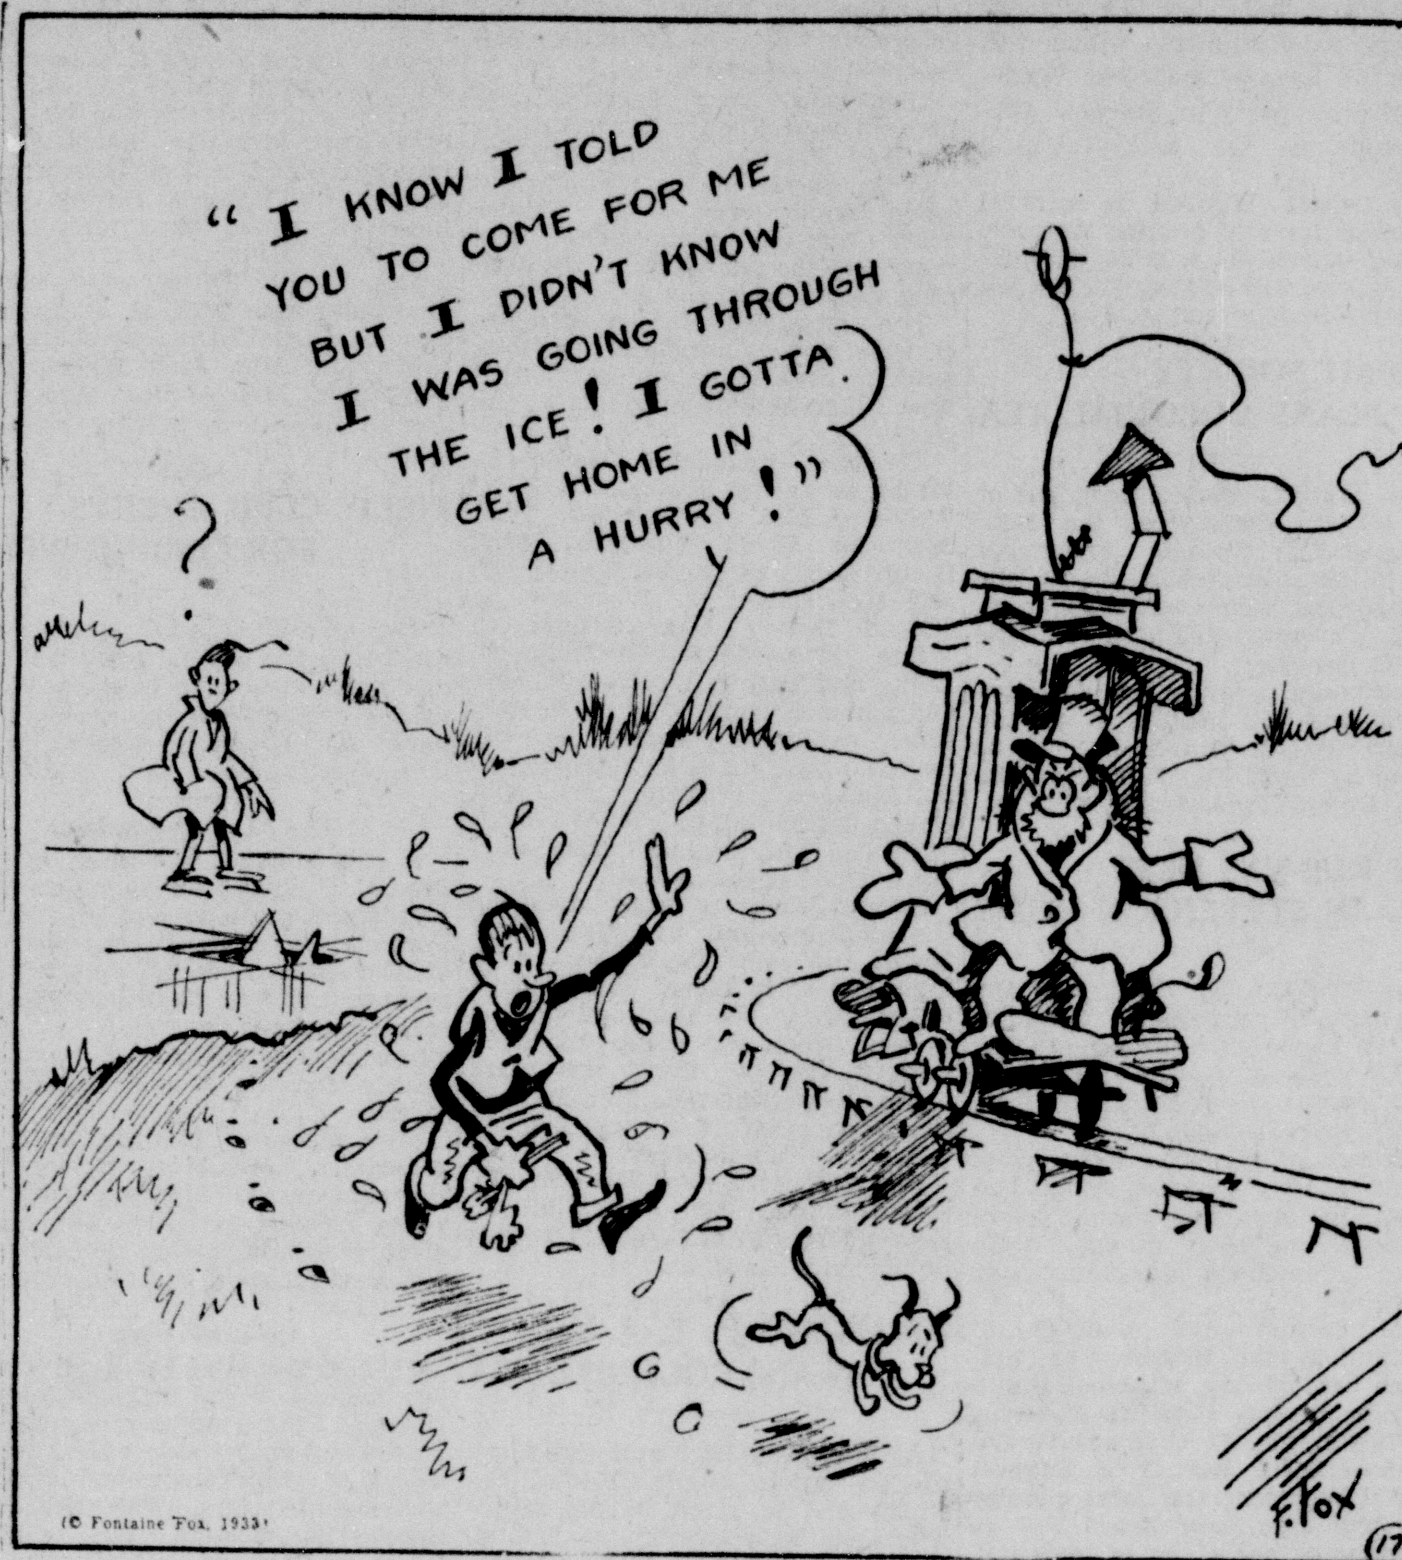

And the way he goes and the word he hears Depend on the people he trusts or reads.

For the best that man on this earth can do Is to cling to the facts he believes are true.

Sun sets tonight 5:39. Sun rises tomorrow tomorrow 6:49.

Ely Culbertson says that bridge articles belong on the sport page, asserting that bridge is the greatest of mental sports, and winding up with the statement that bridge players are invariably interested in such physical sports as boxing, football, golf, tennis, and baseball. They may be interested in these things but most of the bridge players we know hardly know the first principles of these games—or bridge either.

This "swapping" idea isn't so new to some of the older Lawrence county residents. In the good old days before the buzz wagon horse trading was one of the fine arts. We have in mind one horse trader who started out with a hundred dollar nag and ended up with a wheezy old crowbar with ringbones, spavins and two blind eyes. This remnant of the equine family couldn't be exchanged for a horse any longer, and so the trader exchanged it for a mouth-organ and quit the game.

Country Is Prepared To Let Roosevelt Control Changes

Few Objections Are Raised To Conferring Of Broad Powers On New Executive As Means Of Putting Government On Business Basis

Apparently unprecedented sentiment exists throughout the country as to the advisability of giving Mr. Roosevelt full control of government reorganization when he becomes President. A few comments emphasize the danger of dictatorial powers, but the emergency is held by many to justify centralization of authority. It is believed that political complications make it impossible for Congress to take the necessary action.

"This seems to be one of those occasions," in the opinion of the BIRMINGHAM AGE-HERALD "when the national will being can be best promoted through the concentration of power in the hands of an executive, held to an accountability which cannot otherwise be enforced." The PROVIDENCE BULLETIN exclaims: "Let him have the power! The country wants the job done!" The LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL declares that the public "wants action and the only way it can get it is through stronger Executive authority," while the NEWARK EVENING NEWS, referring to the "an amazing surrender of power," adds that "it is also a necessary one," and that "the job must be delivered to responsible hands capable of executing it."

"The granting of wide powers to Mr. Roosevelt," says the LINCOLN STATE JOURNAL, "may be the solution to the situation. It is, it is best that action be taken. But if it is the solution, then Congress has admitted and proved that it is vastly overrated and so organized as to be too cumbersome and unwieldy to function under pressure." The SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE draws the conclusion: "Congress knows in this instance that it, by its own action, never would reorganize the departments. It is only fair to say that Congress cannot do it. All its members are under too many political obligations and under too much pressure to do a fair and square job involving so many of their friends. Yet the public pressure that this job be done is now very great."

Necessity for concentration of power as a means of effective action is emphasized by the TEXAS-KANAZETTE, the HARTFORD DAILY TIMES and the DES MOINES REGISTER. The CHARLESTON (S. C.) EVENING POST defends the theory on the ground that "the proposal is that Congress employ the President to do for it what it realizes it cannot well do for itself." The SPRINGFIELD (MASS.) UNION sees it as a great opportunity for Mr. Roosevelt to do something for his country, which is likely to pray that he will have the force and courage to do it." The BUFFALO EVENING NEWS recognizes a belief that "the incoming President should not be handicapped by lack of authority, as President Hoover has concluded." The CLEVELAND NEWS concludes: "The proposal to make it possible for the President, subject to limited 'veto' powers by Congress, to place on a business basis the widely scattered and often overlapping minor departments and to save probably a minimum of $165,000,000 in governmental 'casas' each year, is surely a sound one. It is an executive prerogative that should have been granted sooner."

Greater certainty of action with the transfer of power from Congress is attested by the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN, the BOSTON TRANSCRIPT, the NASHUA BANNER and the OMAHA WORLD-HERALD. The ROANOKE WORLD-NEWS says: "If Mr. Roosevelt acts with vigor, if he lays the axe deep at the roots of governmental waste, regardless of the howl of interested politicians and their representatives, he will deserve the gratitude of a hard-pressed nation. The carrying out of this provision may in time come to be recognized, not only as the outstanding action of the Roosevelt administration but as the outstanding achievement of any President since the close of the World War." Hope that the new President will be able to meet the desires of the country is voiced by the MILWAUKEE SENTINEL, the BALTIMORE SUN, the AKRON BEACON JOURNAL, the HOUSTON CHRONICLE, the MORGANTOWN DOMINION-NEWS and the NEW YORK SUN, while the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS remarks:

"Congress, of course, is not averse to shifting responsibility. What it feels it cannot do, because of outside pressure and inward weakness and timidity, it is glad to unload." "It is far better," thinks the CHARLOTTE OBSERVER, "to substitute for the time being the ideals of representative government than to suffer the evil consequences of delay and temporization." The NEW CASTLE NEWS comments: "Theodore Roosevelt's 'big stick' looked dangerous. Franklin D. Roosevelt's 'big stick' must be 'load-ed' and be dangerous instead of merely looking dangerous."

"Granting authority to the President to legislate for the government departments," according to the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, "lays down a new theory in the government of the United States. The Congress has been no more effective, really, in passing governmental expenditures. The next and logical move, if the Congress is to surrender to the President this legislative power over the purse strings, is, for example, to give the Chief Executive the power to levy taxes and balance the budget. What the Congress should do, in all the circumstances, is to recover its courage and tackle the work of reorganizing the government's fiscal affairs itself." The SPOKANE SPOKESMAN-REVIEW notes that the proposal "is a surrender of one of the prerogatives that Congress has guarded jealously since the beginning of the republic," while the PASADENA STAR-NEWS holds that "it is no time to wait indolently for any man of destiny to be a Moses," and concludes: "Things are not so badly deranged in this country that any miracles are needed. The United States has been in dire straits before and has come through by the token of common sense, common courage, common confidence, and common energy."

The CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR advises that "this will be an easier job for Congress to tackle when it meets again in extra session," while the ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION utters the warning: "But there is one vastly important fact to remember about dictatorial powers. It is much simpler and easier to confer them than to regain them."

CAPTAIN OF THE TOP

"Ironclads" is lying alongside No. 1 Pier in San Diego Harbor. It is being viewed by thousands. Among the visitors was noticed an "old salt."

He was old and grizzled; his fingers were gnarled from lengthily hauling on sheets and braces—and there was a twinkle in his eye as he looked aloft to the frigate Constitution's ample main-top.

"That, he said, pointing to the top, 'is the place I chased Admiral Wiley out of."

Long ago, it seems, Admiral Henry A. Wiley, retired recently as Commander in Chief of the United States Fleet, was a midshipman on the Constitution, undergoing training. Every Wednesday afternoon the youngsters had a period of "oral instruction." One Wednesday the instruction seemed to fall upon Midshipman Wiley, who vanished. The old-timer who stood at Broadway Pier looking over the famous frigate was, in those days, captain of the maintop. And above the level of the spar deck the word of a captain of the top was law. He went up the ratlines—and found the missing young officer, comfortably stretched out on the top, watching the labors of his classmates below.

We usually think of the foreign and the untutored as the hoarders; the facts show today it is the AMERICAN BORN ENLIGHTENED CITIZEN, with money, who is creating our economic paralysis by hoarding.

Fear has caused people to withdraw over one and one-quarter billions of dollars from circulation. This represents one-fourth of the nation's gold reserve. The hoarding has destroyed over ten billions of potential credits needed for financing business and maintaining employment. Continued hoarding will undermine the fundamental foundations of our business institutions. If you have money not in circulation deposit it in a bank or lend it on a mortgage, or spend it on permanent improvements; in other words, use it in some constructive way rather than have it rot in a tin box or under a mattress to the ultimate damage or possible destruction of our community and business organizations. This association does not hoard its money, but keeps it working for the rebuilding of the community by lending it on first mortgage security on homes.

Dr. S. E. Irvine, pastor of the First Presbyterian church will be the morning's speaker.

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., Feb. 18.—Am I thrilled?
That doesn't half tell it! It was the greatest thrill of my life!
Buffalo hunting was new to me, and my first thrill came when I was chosen one of the ten hunters permitted to kill buffalo this year. My hunting experience previously had been confined to rabbits and quail. This was the first time I ever rode horseback or used a heavy rifle.
The men in the party let me shoot the first buffalo.
I took quick but careful aim and shot him through the heart in my first attempt. The great bull sagged to his knees. Others in the party shot and weighed 700 pounds. I guess they know what they're talking about.

Souvenir Marriage Certificate Book Cause Of Arrest

MERCER, Pa., Feb. 18.—Clerk of Courts Marvin Loutzenhiser, arrested yesterday for alleged extortion on complaint of John R. McClain, of Sharon, who alleges he paid $4 for a marriage license which legally costs $2.50, says the $4 was not charged for the license alone.

Loutzenhiser states that with the license, he sold McClain a special souvenir marriage certificate book for which he charged $1.50.

Loutzenhiser states that sale of the special books was carried on under the advice of counsel and that he was legally within his rights. He states that the practice is carried on in other counties. Whether the fees derived from the sale of the books would belong to the county which pays Loutzenhiser's salary, is up to the county auditors for decision. Loutzenhiser states that if they decide that the fees so derived are county property he will turn them over.

Market Session
Is Quiet TodayIrregular Session Of New York Stock Market Is Reported(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—The stock market went through a quiet and irregular session today. Further weakness in the dollar against European currencies was an unsettling influence.

Bonds were mixed with the government obligations continuing to show pressure. Commodities were generally firm and cotton climbed 50 cents a bale more on further buying induced by government action to bring a drastic cut in acreage this year.

Metal stocks as a group went against the trend with the silvers active and higher on the proposed bill in the house to have the government buy big quantities of the white metal for coinage.

The sluggish tone of the rest of the market weighed down on the rails.

Policeman Is Found Guilty At Washington

Policeman John Cochran Is Found Guilty Of Man-slaughter In Man's Death

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 18.—Policeman John Cochran today was found guilty of manslaughter in the death of Charles E. Bittner, Washington store manager, by a jury of nine men and three women in Judge Erwin Cummins' court-room.

The verdict was returned after about 18 hours deliberation. The verdict carried with it a recommendation for mercy.

Defense Counsel George I. Bloom immediately moved that sentence on Cochran be delayed pending the filing of a motion for a new trial. Judge Cummins granted the request and set Cochran's bail at $8,000 which was expected to be furnished later today.

Seeks New Trial.

Bittner was killed by Cochran last summer when he broke away from the officer while he was being taken to jail for refusing to "move on" at the command of the policeman. Testimony showed Cochran had been acting under orders to prevent loitering on the streets.

Defense for the officer was built around the contention that he shot in self defense when he thought Bittner reached for a gun. A loaded pistol, its barrel filled with tobacco crumbs, was found in Bittner's clothing.

School Code Discussed By Dr. J. N. Rule

Tells Directors Of District That Larger Unit Is Absolutely Necessary

DISCUSSION HELD FOLLOWING TALK

Directors Oppose Large Sums Required For Teacher's Retirement Funds

Discussion of school problems with the directors of the Western Pennsylvania district, by Dr. J. N. Rule, state superintendent of education, was held in the Senior high school this morning.

Dr. Rule was unable to answer a great number of the questions which arose following his talk, due to the fact that he was scheduled for an address to the teachers at the Cathedral, immediately following his talk.

He asserted that there was no question in his mind or of the leading educational experts of the state that a larger unit of administration was necessary if the rural districts were to be placed on a self-supporting basis.

It was not a consolidation of schools, Dr. Rule explained, but a consolidation of methods.

The plan projected of distributing aid, is to give the poorer districts a minimum program. A $1100 cost per teacher has been established, and the idea is to levy a six mill tax on the real value of property in each district to meet this. If this is not sufficient, the state will make up the balance. This plan attempts to distribute state aid on an equitable basis.

Permit Wage Cut

In order to give a respite, until economic conditions balance themselves, there is a bill before the legislature to permit school districts to pay 90 per cent of the salary paid this year. If they are unable to pay this amount, an additional ten per cent reduction may be made by the sanction of the State Council of Education.

If at the end of two years, this plan fails to settle the question, Dr. Rule stated that the legislature may consider a further adjustment to economic conditions.

Dr. Rule urged the school directors to present their local problems to their legislators, and to give them the true condition of affairs in their own locality, as the legislative hearings on school affairs will start next week. If you can impress the legislature with the blackness of your own situation, you may be able to get relief, he asserted.

County Must Borrow For Poor Relief

Only A Small Amount In The Treasury And Many Bills Coming In

With only $4,700 in the poor fund and monthly bills of several times that amount coming in, the county commissioners are confronted with the necessity of borrowing until the 1933 taxes begin to come in. During the past few months the county has faced the necessity of buying hundreds of pairs of shoes. The state is expected to supply about 2000 pairs of shoes, but so far none of them has arrived. It is surmised that the factories did not have the shoes made up and that they must be manufactured before being shipped. Delay in receiving the shoes has worked a considerable hardship on the county.

Police Pick Up Two On Suspicion

Have A Collection Of Books, Tools And Other Articles In Their Car

Last night the officer on duty at the Cathedral was advised that two men were attempting to syphon some gasoline from a car parked on Lincoln avenue.

As the officer approached the place he saw two men walk away and place a gasoline can and hose in a Hupmobile sedan bearing Ohio license 821-034. He arrested them. They gave the names of Harold Daugherty, who claimed to own the car and live in Girard, O., although he said his mother resided here, and James Finnegan of Scott street, who first gave another name.

On searching their car, about 20 books of various kinds and all kinds of tools were found in it, as well as other odds and ends, police say. They were held until this morning, when they were assessed a fine of $10 each, with the alternative of 10 days in jail.

Blessed are the poor. Only the rich salt down money that should be kept in circulation.

New Castle High Defeats Ellwood City 35 To 10

Locals Take Lead In Section Three

New Castle High Wins From Ellwood City; Butler Drops To Beaver Falls 24-23

Captain "Bus" Reiber, Kelly And Ridley Scoring Stars In Game Here

New Castle high school basketball team ascended to first place in Section Three of the W. P. I. A. L. last night, as a result of their victory over Ellwood City high 35 to 10. Butler high lost to Beaver Falls 24 to 23 and thus the Bridenbaughmen gained the top of the league with eight victories and one defeat. Captain "Bus" Reiber was almost the whole works again last night making 15 of his teams points, while Kelly and Ridley played nice supporting roles. Coach Benedict brought a scrappy group of Ellwood City high players here, but they were not equal to the task of halting a fighting New Castle quintet.

New Castle Takes Lead
The first quarter of the game was slow and not very interesting with New Castle on the long end of the count 6 to 2. Captain Reiber had all six of the points for New Castle and McFadden made the field goal for Ellwood City. In the second period New Castle scored 11 points to four for the Benedictmen. Kelly made two field goals. Kominic did likewise and Reiber made one. Tammamro scored the lone field goal for Ellwood in the second period and shot two fouls.

Ellwood City made their best showing in the third period when they held New Castle to four points. field goals by Ridley a sub for Battley and by Kelly. Ellwood scored but three points in the third period. Bolotin caked a field goal and McFadden dropped a foul.

Riber Gets Three
In the final period New Castle opened up and the field goals started to drop all over the hoops. New Castle made 14 points the final quarter with Reiber dropping in three field goals. Kelly one and Ridley two. Coach Philip H. Bridenbaugh made several substitutions in the final period sending Hnat and Miles into the game replacing Kominic and Kelly. Coach Benedict also sent in two subs Luxembourg and Meniece. Bolotin was banished in the fourth period by four personal fouls.

Ellwood City made but one point the final quarter a foul shot by Tammamro just as the game ended. Ellwood City has a well balanced team, and with a little more experience they are going to cause a lot of trouble.

New Castle continued to show improvement at the foul line by making 5 out of 14 with Captain Reiber continuing his streak with three straight fouls. Reiber has not missed a foul in three straight games, and has made 12 out of 12. This should become kind of a record this year.

Pointing For Butler
Coach Bridenbaugh started this afternoon to point his basketballers for the final game of the Section Three card at Butler High next Tuesday night. Incidentally New Castle by a victory can clinch the league championship, and by losing can be Butler for the championship.

Last night's game was the final one of the home season. New Castle was defeated but once at home and that was by Butler High 19 to 13. The locals hope to avenge this defeat at Butler next week.

basketball team remained undefeated for the season last night by handing the Ellwood City High Reserves a 14 to 8 setback. The Reserves led in every period of the game.

At the end of the first quarter it was 3 to 1 New Castle. The end of the half found the New Castle team ahead 6 to 3. Tommy Jones was the outstanding star of the game, with seven of his team points. Miles and Patton also played good basketball. For the Ellwood City team the playing of Robuck was a big feature, this youngster making five of the points, while Shirley also looked good.

Butler High Is Next For Locals

New Castle high school basketball team will play Butler high at the Butler high floor next Tuesday night, in the final game of Section Three. This game has a championship bearing.

New Castle can win the sectional title if they upset the Heinzermen, while on the other hand if New Castle loses, the league is all tied up, and a playoff game will be necessary.

Butler high defeated New Castle at New Castle earlier in the season 19 to 13, and for that reason the Bridenbaughmen are anxious to avenge this defeat. If New Castle clicks like they can click, Butler is going to have a tough time winning.

New Castle High Section Leaders

New Castle high school basketball team leads section three of the W. P. I. A. L. today following their 35 to 10 victory over Ellwood last night, while Butler was dropping to Beaver Falls, 24 to 23. At Rochester the New Brighton team came to life and won, 24 to 22.

FALCON JUNIORS WIN
Polish Falcon Junior basketball team took a 32 to 16 decision over the Red Five at the Falcon hall. The scoring stars of the game were Kawa with 15 points, Kurdrupski and Krolek for the Falcons, and Koch and Hughes for the Red Five.

Three Games Won By Mt. Jackson

Boys Varsity Trims Wampum 45-19; Girls Win 38 To 13; And Reserves Win 16-7

Last night was a big night for the Mt. Jackson high school basketball teams. All three of the teams coached by Spears won games from Wampum high.

The Mt. Jackson varsity team walloped Wampum 45 to 19 in the main game, with Coach Spears using his reserves in the biggest part of the game and Stephenson, Gleghe and Macaluso came through with a fine brand of basketball.

The first game on the program found the Mt. Jackson High Reserves upsetting the Wampum High Reserves 16 to 7, in a well played game.

Good Outfield
They have a good outfield that could pack more punch, a good infield that also could stand more batting power, a good catcher and a good pitching staff.

Reynolds, West and Campbell did well enough in the outfield and Jack Burns, Jimmy Levey and Art Schanin figure to improve over last year in the infield.

Rick Ferrell is not far from being a really great catcher.

The Browns will get most of their pitching from Blacholder, Brown, Hadley, Hebert, Gray, Fischer and Jack Knott, a newcomer, who comes up highly recommended.

Duquesne Hands Pitt Upset 25-24

Grove City Halts Geneva In Tri-State Game At Grove City Floor

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 18.—The city championship banner fluttered madly from Blacholder, Brown, Hadley, Hebert, Gray, Fischer and Jack Knott, a newcomer, who comes up highly recommended.

The Dukes successfully defended their crown in the deciding game against Pitt here last night, 25-24. The game was almost an exact replica of Duquesne's 26-25 victory over the Panthers earlier in the season in that it was marked by roughness and narrowness of margin.

Four games appear on tonight's district schedule, headed by Carnegie Tech's meeting here with Georgetown. The other games are Thiel at Waynesburg; Lock Haven at Indiana Teachers; West Virginia University at Penn State.

Results of other district games last night were Grove City 35, Geneva 31; Bethany 51, Thiel 45; Millersburg 27, Slippery Rock 21; Allegheny 56, Alfred 31.

Frankie Goosby Upsets Delaney

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 18.—Frankie Goosby, transplanted Cleveland negro, today had a victory to show for every star he has made in Pittsburgh boxing rings. Goosby added Paul Delaney, highly-touted Seattle middleweight here last night by belting out a one-sided 10-round decision.

Kid McCoy Kayoed By "Jim" Corbett

On August 30, 1900

Owing to the critical nature of James J. Corbett's illness, a review of the big moments in the career of the great heavyweight champion of other days is especially timely now. Following is the description by W. S. Farnsworth, noted sports writer, of Corbett's five-round knockout victory over Kid McCoy in the old Madison Square Garden in New York on August 30, 1900.

McCoy, the dapper, lay curled on the floor like a cod in a pot. His curly head butted into the resinsprinkled mat and he writhed like a man who had partaken of cucumber salad and ice cream too early in the season. Over him stood Corbett, a frown on his pallid face and a scowl in his sunken eyes. Outside the ropes thousands of spectators stood on their feet and shrieked like a railroad yard full of locomotives. The shrieking was not so loud, however, but the violent clanging of the gong could be heard.

Ends in Fifth
The clanging meant McCoy had lost the fight; that of the two exponents of refined fistcrafts Corbett was the king pin.

The finish came in the fifth round. Just as soon as he could find the opening he swung his left into that part of the body where the solar plexus is supposed to be housed. McCoy gave an audible grunt and clinched. Another cruel smash took McCoy across the midriff and he belled like a calf. He commenced to sink. Corbett got in another of those nerve-racking lefts, and then dealt him a couple of hard punches on the head. McCoy's forehead bumped the floor, he rolled over and wriggled, the spectators roared, the referee counted, the bell clanged, the crowd swarmed in to the ring—and it was all over.

Browns Bank On Outfield

St. Louis Americans Think Outfield Is Best In Junior Circuit

PITCHING STAFF IS BIG QUESTION

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—A team without noticeable weakness but with no outstanding strength—that's the St. Louis Browns. Evenly balanced, good but not great, with no particular punch, they figure to be the troublemakers of the American League this year.

They are young and fast and improving, and if they are headed nowhere themselves, they will have much to say about those who think they are.

Good Outfield
They have a good outfield that could pack more punch, a good infield that also could stand more batting power, a good catcher and a good pitching staff.

Reynolds, West and Campbell did well enough in the outfield and Jack Burns, Jimmy Levey and Art Schanin figure to improve over last year in the infield.

In the first game Eintracht played with Youngstown, the Ohioans won by a five point margin and the Eintracht will have a double object in view tonight, first, a clear cut league lead and a defeat of Youngstown. Alliance is the team deadlocked with New Castle for first place.

There will be a preliminary game between Eintracht and Youngstown and Saxons. The contest will start at 7 p. m. and the main attraction will follow immediately.

Westminster College Basketball Team Defeats West Virginians 54-39

EVERY ONE OF TITANS SCORE

Westminster College Titan band of basketball men handed the Glenville Teachers College team of West Virginia, a 54 to 39 defeat last night at the Westminster gym floor. The game was one of the biggest scoring contests of the year at the New Wilmington floor. Every member of the Westminster team scored at least one point. The star performers were Bennett, Pitt and Hunneke for the Titans and Hines for the Glenville Teachers.

The score at the end of the first half favored the Westminster team 32 to 17. Coach Lawther used every reserve on the bench and as said before every one of them scored at least one field goal, which is some kind of a record perhaps.

Hines was the whole works for the Glenville team with 22 points through the medium of 10 field goals and two fouls.

The Westminster team held the lead throughout the game, and the invaders from West Virginia failed to threaten.

Shenango Defeats Bessemer, 16 To 13

Three Games In County Church League Monday

BESSEMER GIRLS WIN GAME, 38 TO 32

(Special To The News)
BESSEMER, Feb. 18.—Shenango high school broke even in basketball games here last night the boys varsity winning from Bessemer team 16 to 13, and the girls dropping their tilt to Bessemer girls, 38 to 32.

Shenango boys got away to a three to two point lead in the first period and held Bessemer scoreless in the second period while they amassed seven additional points. When the second half opened the score was 10 to 2. Bessemer braved and rolled up six points to two for Shenango and the third quarter ended 12 to 8.

Bessemer made a garrison finish in the fourth period and did outplay Shenango but the damage incurred in the second period, could not be overcome and Shenango won 16 to 13.

Frenzel at left forward was an ace for Shenango high. He shot three field goals and earned two more points from the free throw line. Craig slipped two field goals thru the hoops and Rzeznick scored three points.

Exhortment, pumping center for Bessemer winners of the first game from Shenango, equalled Frenzel's performance. He caged six points from the field and hooped through free throws following fouls. Benson, Seltzer and Marshall scored other points for Bessemer.

Win In Last Period
In the girls game Miss Johnson caged nine field goals and two foul goals. This gave the left forward 20 points for Bessemer. Miss Macklin, center scored nine field goals while Miss Booker, right forward for the Shenango team scored eight field goals and two foul points.

The first half ended 21 to 17 in favor of Shenango and it appeared at the end of the third quarter with the score 26 to 25 that Shenango girls would win. In the last quarter however, Bessemer girls came thru and won 38 to 32.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 18.—Leo Dunn, aged 30, of New Castle, an Ohio Edison lineman, is in South Side unit of the Youngstown hospital with serious injuries to his back as the result of a fall from a pole at Lake Milton yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Dunn was taken to the hospital by Fox's ambulance. His condition today was reported as "slightly improved."

The more we read about congressional statesmanship and the nearer it comes to March 4 the more we are convinced that on November 8 it was not Mr. Roosevelt but Mr. Hoover who was the lucky man.

Daylight Robbery In Seventh Ward

Robbery Occurs Friday Afternoon At Seventh Ward Place Of Business

Two men, working as a team, Friday afternoon, robbed the place of business of the Mahoning Supply Company, North Liberty and La. cock streets, seventh ward, securing about $20 in cash.

An old but very effective method was used. About two o'clock in the afternoon a man entered the place of business. He wanted some window glass, in fact a piece 8 by 10 inches.

D. R. Smith, who was in charge of the store at the time, was alone. The glass was on the second floor and it was necessary to go up there for it. He and the man went up to get the glass.

While they were up there, the second man in the affair entered the store, went to the safe where the money was kept, and took approximately $20 that he found there.

The two men were traveling in a Ford sedan with a Pennsylvania license. Upon making the discovery some time later that the place had been robbed, Mr. Smith called the police.

Officers were detailed but were unable to locate the men wanted. The one man is described as being about thirty five years of age, five feet six inches in height, his face covered with pimples. He was wearing a light overcoat and a brown soft hat.

The second man was described as being about five feet nine inches in height about 180 pounds and between 25 and 30 years of age. He had on a dark overcoat and a soft light hat.

Liquor Penalties Lighter In Federal Courts Of Western Pennsylvania

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent of New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 18.—Prohibition law offenders prosecuted by federal agents in federal courts of the western Pennsylvania judicial district in January received much lighter penalties than such offenders prosecuted through activities in the country as a whole.

In the western Pennsylvania district there were 36 verdicts of guilty brought in by federal courts against prohibition offenders, and 13 pleas of guilty, the Bureau of Prohibition reported today. Fines imposed upon such offenders averaged only $68 and jail sentences only 30 days.

Fines imposed upon such offenders in the country as a whole, on the other hand, averaged $150 and jail sentences averaged 143 days.

Federal agents operating in the western Pennsylvania district in January seized 20 automobiles and boats, 18 stills, 2306 gallons of beer, 3148 gallons of spirits, and 578 gallons of wine.

Warner Home On Coast Is Robbed Of Valuable Gems

Thieves Enter Home Of Harry Warner, Father Of Film Executives, Loss $15,000

(International News Service)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Feb. 18.—Gem thieves, believed members of the same gang which has victimized several prominent film figures, entered the home of Harry Warner, father of the Warner Brothers, movie executives, and stole $15,000 worth of jewelry and furs, police revealed Friday.

County Gets Little From Hospital Cases

Only $157.56 Returned Of Over $35,000 Expended During Past Year

Very little of the money expended by the county in keeping patients in insane asylums and hospitals of the state, is returned to the county, according to the report of County Controller R. C. McCaslin for the past year. The total amount expended in this department by the county was over $35,000. The amount returned to the county was but $157.56.

The procedure in sending an insane person to the hospital is to have a commission appointed. This commission, usually consisting of a doctor, a lawyer and a citizen, passes upon the merits of the case. If the person is found to be suffering from mental trouble he or she is committed to a state institution, and the bill is sent to Lawrence county.

If the person has property or friends who are able to pay the bill, it is collected by the county, but the records for the past year show that practically all of the expense is borne by the county. This department of the county expense has been increasing during the past few years, and is becoming one of the heavy charges upon the taxpayers.

Somewhat better showing is made at the county home, which is operated on the same principle. If a person sent to the home has any funds, the cost of boarding is recovered. During the past year $25.85 was repaid to the county from such cases.

Representative J. Howard Swick displayed a thorough interest in the Senate debate this week on the resolution calling for the repeal of the 18th amendment.

With the House of Representatives working only on minor bills, Congressman Swick spent much time in the Senate chamber listening to the discussion. He seemed to pay attention equally to wet and dry speakers.

When the Senate, by a 58 to 23 ballot, voted to give immediate consideration to the repeal resolution rather than postpone it, Mr. Swick was in the chamber. Standing in the rear of the Senate, with a pad of paper in his hand, he carefully noted the vote of each senator as the roll was called.

Mr. Swick is one of the few remaining prohibitionists in Congress regarded as a standpat dry.

Your Income Tax In A Nutshell

No. 17 LOSSES ON STOCK TRANSACTIONS

No gain or loss is recognized for income-tax purposes as a result of the exchange of stock or securities in a corporation solely for stock or securities in another corporation in pursuance of a plan of reorganization to which both corporations are parties or as a result of the exchange of stock or securities in the same corporation in connection with a recapitalization. Old Walls Empty Of Relics, Say Wreckers; Yet They Held "Secrets"!

While oldtimers hoped that musty old relics might be brought to light as the public square buildings were wrecked, it wasn't until Friday afternoon that workmen jabbed a crowbar into anything that might rate the souvenir class—and the fact that it's a souvenir was still being debated today!

Just a plain jug of liquor was all it was. The age they couldn't estimate.

Work crews today continued to pound away at the walls of the Cunningham building, at the South Jefferson street corner and within several days the entire structure will be cleared. It was in the frame building to the rear of the Cunningham block that the liquor sealed tight in a wall was found.

Princeton Has No Families On Relief

Residents Of Slippery Rock Township Village Able To Care For Themselves

Lawrence county's relief situation would prove an easy problem if the people were all like the residents of Princeton. Edward Sechler, a resident of the village, who was at the county commissioners office Friday, called attention to the fact that Princeton does not have one family on the relief roll.

There are about twenty-five families in the town. So far every family has been able to live on its own resources. Last summer practically every family had a garden. Surplus eatables were canned and the provisions thus obtained have been a big factor in meeting the situation this winter.

While Princeton residents have not found it necessary to ask aid, the same cannot be said of Slippery Rock township, in which it is located. Help is being furnished to a number of residents, particularly in the neighborhood of Rose Point. Some of these families depend upon the operation of limestone quarries which have not been able to operate steadily.

Mr. Sechler says that Princeton residents are planning to operate their gardens at capacity during the coming summer.

other disposition, acquires or enters into a contract or option to acquire substantially identical stock or securities.

The treatment of gains and losses resulting from the sale or exchange of capital assets under the revenue act of 1932 remains the same as it was under the revenue act of 1928. The term "capital assets" means with certain exceptions property held by the taxpayer for a period of more than two years, and such property, of course, includes stocks and securities. In the case of an individual, any loss sustained in respect of capital assets is first offset against any gains from such source. A capital net gain may, at the election of the taxpayer other than a corporation, be taxed at the rate of 12½ per cent instead of the regular rates for computing the normal tax and surtax on ordinary income. No election is allowed, however, with respect to the treatment of a capital net loss, as the reduction in the amount of the tax liability as a result of such capital net loss is limited to 12½ per cent thereof. The amount of the tax payable in such case is subject to the further provision that in no case is the amount of tax to be less than it would be if computed with regard to the capital net loss provision.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

Most of us have always associated Wall Street with horns and hooves. Anyone who was closely associated with the stock exchange, so we thought, probably carried a bomb in his hip pocket, and a knife in his vest.

We knew in a hazy way that the stock exchange was where the bulls and the bears joined forces to shear the lambs, and always felt that the ticker noise was devised to hide the death rattle of the innocent victims.

And then after holding such an opinion along comes Cameron Beck, the Personnel Director of the Stock Exchange and in just a few minutes attracts you to him with his personal magnetism, holds your attention with his forceful speaking, and completely ruins your notions of the Exchange with a story or two.

Around the Cathedral and inside the Cathedral looked like December 1929 when New Castle entertained the P. S. E. A. state convention. Not quite so many visitors, but not nearly as much territory to draw from.

During the evening session a couple of second grade rags from Ohio started cleaning out the automobiles of the visiting teachers. Fortunately a couple of policemen caught them in the act and I would be inclined to believe that when they get out, Santa Claus will have been around a couple of times.

There's a new racket being used. The pyramid sales idea. You buy one article and sell three or four more and on the fourth sale you get a commission of half the purchase price of the original. Then if you can convince the buyers to become sellers you get pyramid commissions on their sales, and in a short time you are getting commissions from a dozen salesmen or more.

It's a novel idea but unfortunately the product being sold isn't worth the purchase price. Nor does it seem like a fair break for the merchants to permit it to be done. Nor are the salesmen involved licensed to sell.

The old cartoonist used to show a teacher as a funny maid, with pointed chin and sausage curls, but that is not True I'm afraid; the modern teacher is a pip. In looks and style and all round class, their meeting here shows lots of them, a modern, keen, and stylish lass.
